

Wolcott Public Library
Wireless Internet Policy

In keeping with its mission to meet the informational, educational, and cultural needs of the community and to encourage reading and the use of current technology for lifelong learning, the Wolcott Public Library offers free, wireless, Internet access for use with a patron's properly equipped laptop computer or other wireless device.

Access to the wireless network does not require a password. By connecting to the library's wireless network you are accepting the library's Public Internet Access Policy, copies of which are available on the library's web site, www.wolcottlibrary.org, and at the circulation desk.

The library's wireless access is filtered and unsecured; therefore any information being sent or received could be intercepted by another wireless user. Please take appropriate precautions.

Library staff is able to provide limited technical assistance and the library makes no guarantee that you will be able to make a wireless connection.

The library does not assume responsibility for the safety of equipment, security, or configuration of wireless devices, nor does it assume liability for any damages to hardware, software, or data.
